The Climate Diaries

Dear parents,

'The Climate Diaries Project', first published in 2021, was started by the Department of English at the GEMS Legacy School and headed by Ms. Vridhi Sharma. It features stories and poems written by children aged 11 to 15 years and has a unique offering of thoughts and ideas, to create more sustainable societies. The narratives based in different contexts and countries around the world offer a kaleidoscopic view of the environment and the challenges it faces. Every year we work towards bringing something new to the table and this year, for the 2022 launch, GLS students collaborated with three authors - Mr. Michael Ross, Ms. Kalyani Voleti and Ms. Neena Mathew to write stories to spread ideas on this pressing issue. Besides this, the book features stories and artworks of the winners of SCOPE - 'School Conference of Parties Exposition' every year. We encourage children from around the world to write to us with stories that amplifies their voice as ambassadors for climate literacy to enhance the resilience of communities and ecosystems affected by climate change.

We take pride in this accomplishment and encourage students and parents to participate in this milestone, by purchasing the online book. We look forward to your active participation in spreading the awareness for a sustainable environment.

The book is now live on Kindle! Please find below the Kindle links:
